CAMBRIA NAMES LINDA LEATHERDALE VICE PRESIDENT OF MARKETING AND BUSINESS DEVELOPMENT IN CANADA

New Position Solidifies Cambria's Commitment to Brand Growth and Deepening Relationships in Canada

MINNEAPOLIS, MINN. (May 28, 2009) – Cambria, the fastest growing quartz surfaces brand and company in North America, announces the appointment of Linda Leatherdale as the new vice president of marketing and business development in Canada. In this newly created position, Ms. Leatherdale is responsible for forging new business relationships and alliances with key trade and media organizations in Canada to sell Cambria natural quartz surfaces in Canada.

“Linda Leatherdale has a tremendous reputation throughout Ontario and greater Canada. She is smart, hard-working and applies great passion to everything she does,” said Martin Davis, president and CEO of Cambria. “We are excited to have a local Canadian on board that will accelerate our business development initiatives. Linda will enhance our current roster of strong employees and business partners and play an integral role in expanding Cambria’s brand and sales growth. Linda is a real player in the greater Canadian business world and we are honored to have her on board.”

Leatherdale is a leading financial expert, commentator, consumer advocate and journalist in Canada. Her lengthy résumé includes positions with the Toronto Sun where she served as financial editor, and as host of the popular “Money Line” television program.

“I am thrilled to work for a family-run company that values and invests in its employees as it seeks a strong presence in Canada,” said Linda Leatherdale. “Cambria has accomplished a great deal in its relatively short history. I look forward to working together to take it to the next level in Canada; to grow our business and support the local communities within which Cambria operates. It is an exciting opportunity to be part of Cambria’s entrepreneurial team.”
